

How to Stop Self-Sabotage

Meet the Judge, the Master Saboteur

The Judge is the universal Saboteur that afflicts everyone. It is the one that beats you up over mistakes and fixates on what's wrong.

The Judge works with Accomplice Saboteurs to hijack your mind. Do any of these seem familiar?

The Accomplice Saboteurs

Avoider Saboteur
Focuses on the positive and avoids the unpleasant.

Controller Saboteur
Anxiety-based need to control everything.

Hyper-Vigilant Saboteur
Continuous anxiety about what could go wrong.

Pleaser Saboteur
Tries to gain acceptance by pleasing others.

Victim Saboteur
An extreme focus on internal feelings.

Restless Saboteur
Constantly searching for busyness.

Stickler Saboteur
Perfectionism taken too far.

Hyper-Rational Saboteur
Exclusive focus on rational processing.

Hyper-Achiever Saboteur
Dependent on achievement for validation.

Aren't They Good for Me?

Negative emotions are only helpful for a quick second to alert you. After that, they sabotage your performance, relationships, and wellbeing.

Build Mental Fitness to Stop Self-Sabotage
